Multi-Cancer Early Detection (MCED)

WHAT IS MULTI-CANCER EARLY DETECTION (MCED)?

Multi-Cancer Early Detection (MCED) is an advanced genomic blood test that screens for a wide range of cancers from a single blood sample.

The test detects Circulating Tumour DNA (ctDNA)—tiny fragments of DNA released by tumour cells into the bloodstream. By analysing these tumour-derived DNA fragments, the test can identify potential cancer signals at an early stage.

WHY CHOOSE MULTI-CANCER EARLY DETECTION (MCED)?

COMPREHENSIVE

Screens for 20 main cancer categories, including 113 types of cancer.

ACCURATE

Advanced genomic analysis to detect cancer signals early.

MINIMALLY INVASIVE

Simple blood test with no surgery or hospital admission required.

RELIABLE RESULTS

Results available within 21 working days.

WHO SHOULD CONSIDER THIS TEST?

- ✓ Adults aged 40 years and above
- ✓ Individuals with family history of cancer
- ✓ Smokers and former smokers
- ✓ Individuals seeking comprehensive health screening
- ✓ Individuals with increased cancer risk factors
